Kopf defeats Ladner

Lagasse edges Heitzmann in judge's race; results to be certified today

BY SHANNON JENKINS Staff Writer

As of now, David Kopf will face Republican candidate Terrell Randolph in the Nov. 4 general election for Hancock County Superintendent Education.

The election will be certified some time today.

As figures stand now, Kopf defeated incumbent Mike Ladner by 144 votes after the run-off election held Tuesday, Aug. 26.

Kopf claimed 1,656 votes, and Ladner received 1512.

In the Aug. 5 primary. election, the race was extremely tight with Kopf having 1,793 votes and Ladner having 1,791. The two candidates had a little of two weeks to gain Myrna L. Bourgeois' votes, which came to 675.

"We're elated and excited and full of gratitude," Kopf said Wednesday. "This is a blessing for myself and my family.

Kopf said he would continue to campaign until the November election.

Gulfside housing project shot down

Group now eyeing alternative plans

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER Staff Writer

Waveland Planning and Zoning commissioners voted unanimously Monday against the recommendation to build Rometta's Place, a senior housing project that has recently become the center of controversy for residents in the proposed neighborhood. The project originally called for a zoning change, but was changed later to a request for a special-use exception.

Ralph West made the motion for denial and Ronnie Ferrell seconded the motion.

"It's a wonderful project, but in the wrong place at the wrong time," said Ferrell, who also said he thought the project would be more suited for the Hwy. 90 area. "I hope you understand that I am totally for it, but I am voting against

"No, we don't undersaid Gulfside Methodist Assembly direc-💈 tor Marion Martin.

Gulfside Assembly had proposed the independent living project as a part of a ten-year growth plan, consistent with its mission statement they say, to provide ministry to the whole person through education, spiritual nurture and family support. Neighbors turned out in droves in opposition, both at public meetings and in private gatherings of a newlyformed neighborhood watchdog group organized originally to oppose the project.

Monday's planning and zoning meeting was no exception as people filled all available seats, leaving standing room only.

"There were people standing up on TV and saying that all blacks and Asians would fill the project," said Martin, who began the proceedings. "They also said we are going to build crack houses ... can you imagine the Methodist Church building crack houses ... there is no housing like this (for seniors) in Waveland and we want to do this for the good of the community and we think we that this was just the beginhave experience in the area ning of a much larger housof community service ...."

We seek to build up, not tear down the community," said executive director of the Mississippi United Methodist Foundation Rev. Jerry Mitchell.

Opponents stated serious infrastructure problems such as narrow streets, flooding, drainage and sewer problems in what one resident, Mary Bernard Blanchard, described as an area of substandard conditions with crumbling streets, frequent power outages, low or minimal water pressure, leaking sewage, poorly maintained rights-ofway, minimal street lighting and pot holes, Many blamed the Sundance subdivision for drainage and flooding problems.

"From all the conversation I've heard you've got a problem with or without this project," said Mitchell. "You've got a problem whether you approve or don't."

Other opposition came from those who voiced concern for the evacuation of storm. Still others, such as Neil Smith, said they feared ing project that would include assisted-living or nursing homes.

In spite of high emotions the meeting went fairly smoothly until the close when at least one temper flared, that of Rev. Donald Peters. After repeated suggestions that the assembly sell the property and buy land more suitable for the project elsewhere, Peters appeared angry.

"We are not relocating whether we build this project or not. We are not going anywhere. We have been here for 80 years and we are here to stay," Peters said. "We sold the land and you allowed Sundance to be built (Gulfside owned the property that the subdivision is located on.) You let them build ... it is the 1960s all over again with the white folks trying to control everything."

Outside, Martin said that the next plan will be to go with current zoning requirements which would allow about 42 single family houses to be built on the properthe seniors in case of a tyoriginally planned for the one bedroom style senior

Supers cut library funding

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER Staff Writer

Several representatives from the Hancock County Library System presented a formal resolution to the Board of Supervisors on Wednesday, asking the board to reconsider a cut in millage to the library.

Preliminary budget figures indicate that library's millage will be reduced from the 2.86 mills in the FY2002 budget to 2.54 mills in the FY2003 budget, a cut of .16

It doesn't sound like much, but the cut will keep the library from reaching some of this year's goals, director Prima Plauche. Plauche also said that she understood that the slashed millage would be added to the general free of charge, said Plauche. fund.

Plauche said the library had also hoped to add more children's programs and

Budget goals this year were set to increase hours of operation at the system's four branches in Bay St. Louis, Kiln, Waveland, and Pearlington, said Plauche. Increased hours would not necessitate the hiring of any new employees, she said, but added costs would come as a result of increased operation and maintenance Added costs this next year will also come from increased use of public meeting rooms at the library's four facilities. The library system offers its meeting rooms to the public

A recently reopened and enlarged facility Waveland will also cost more to operate than the smaller facility, Plauche said. With improvements come increased costs, like insurance, she said

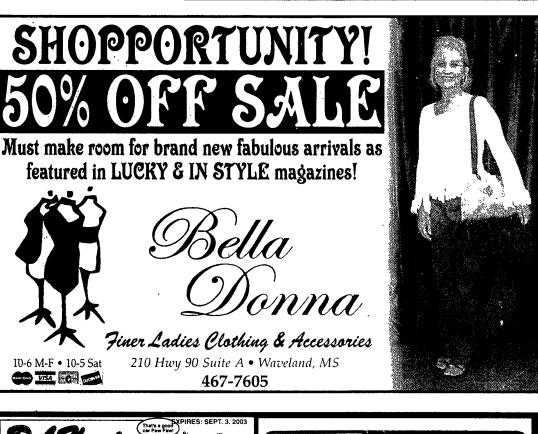

"The library is like any business," she said. "With overhead and a lot of behind the scenes work to bring services to the public."

"It is useless to have all these beauti' I buildings if we can't keep them open," said Board of Trustees chairman Mary Sinders.

In dollar amounts, requested millage adds up to $981,872. A 1999 bond payment of $103,500 off the top would bring needed operating capitol $878,372, said Plauche.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas Publisher Emeritus

'es, it's high school football time for area high school teams and play begins Friday night.

The Bay High Tigers will play host to Mercy Cross in J.D. McCullouch stadium tomorrow night with kickoff at 7:30 p.m.

The Tigers are looking forward to a much better season then last year when they went winless.

According to head coach Glenn Williams, Bay High will be using a Spread-I-Back offense this year and should be tossing the ball most plays.

Bay High does have nine seniors returning and this should help the young team's performance.

Hancock High's Hawks will be playing all 5-A teams this year. Hancock showed their 'stuff' last year, their second in the top high school Division in the state.

The Hawks lost some great players to graduation last year, but will have a total of 26 seniors return-

Head coach  $\mathbf{Rocky}$ Gaudin, as always will have the Hawks ready to play, as they probably the toughest schedule in the state.

On Thursday Hancock will journey a few miles down the road to play the Long Beach Bearcats.

This should be one of the most interesting games on the coast this Friday night.

The St. Stanislaus Rockachaws will be away Friday night, tangling with the St. John Eagles in Gulfport.

Needless to say, St. John will test every position on the Rocks, as Stanislaus lost some key players to graduation last season.

On the other hand, head coach Casev Wittman's new weight facility and speed, could take the Rocks a long distance this year. Last year's highlight was a playoff appearance, and St. Stanislaus should be reaching further this season.

Pass Christian will get a real test in the season's opener, as they play host to the Stone County Tomcats. The Pirates in Division 4A play, will be looking for young players to fill several gaps this season.

Head coach VonderBruegge will be facing the toughest schedule in the Pirate's history. Remember, our local teams need good fan support at home, and away games.

We hope to see you at the games on Friday nights.

Kick-offs are at 7:30 p.m. Best of Luck, to the 2003 Hawks, Tigers, Rockachaws and Pirates.

The Third Annual Wave Fest is set for Sunday, August 31 in Waveland from 10 a.m. to dusk and is sponsored by the Coleman Avenue Coalition.

This is to be a banner year for the Wave Fest and there will be the most participation event for the event's third year.

There will be arts & crafts, food, a sand sculpturing contest, children's games & rides, beach soccer, a 5K run, and an Antique Car Show featuring The Misfits Street Krewzers.

Live bands will be featured from Noon until 8 p.m. on the Beach.

The bands are to include The blackened Blues Band, The Porch Rockers, The Pat Murphy Band, and J.R. Jones. On the Avenue: The Housekats, Dancers, Singers, and Theatre Groups.

Kathy Pinn, ScottBlackwell, Sue Ashman, Mary Krapausly and members of the Coleman Avenue Coalition have been working very hard in recent months in preparation for Sunday's big event.

The evening will be topped off with a Fireworks Display by The Waveland Civic Association.

I hope to see you at the Wave Fest on Sunday.

The job loss blame game

page-one story in the New York Times Last week under a Greenville, S. C., dateline caught my eye.

TO A STATE OF THE CASE OF THE PROPERTY OF THE STATE OF TH

Textile manufacturers in South Carolina were up in arms about that state's big loss of jobs in recent years.

And who was their anger aimed at? Not South Carolina's Republican Gov. Mark Sanford, but the guy sitting in the White House. President George W. Bush.

South Carolina, like Mississippi (and even more so) has historically relied on sewing industry jobs--apparel and textiles--as a mainstay of manufacturing employment.

But sewing jobs began leaving in droves after NAFTA came on the scene in the mid-1990s. Now China is the biggest culprit.

The South Carolina textile executives, according to the Times story, have backed away from supporting Bush, charging he has done nothing to stop the state's job flight.

"He (Bush) can forget about the Solid South," said one big textile company president whose company, Mount Vernon Mills, has laid off 1,000 workers.

The New York Times report went on to say that South Carolina was third among the states in percentage of jobs lost since Bush took office in January 2001. Only Massachusetts and Ohio, had a worse percentage loss, the story said.

Mississippi's non-farm job force was substantially thinner than such states as South Carolina to begin with, so job losses here hit proportionally harder. However we weren't on the handful of "worst" states cited by The Times report.

Yet, the Barbourisms being heard down here in our magnolia-scented la-la land of politics, make Mississippi appear otherwise.

One thing I've found as I looked at various statistical indices of comparative employment by states since January, 2000, is that a politician can pluck out just a minute fraction to allegedly "prove" his case.

In one index, Mississippi may be 1/100th of a percentage point worse off in job losses that the next several states, but in others somewhere closer to the middle range.

No comfort, or political advantage, however, should be derived from using a tiny statistical fraction in any index comparing our job losses with other states.

The real story behind any job loss data is the human one--the impact on both individual wage-earners and communities as a result of plant closings and whopping layoffs in the three-year national economic slide.

Burlington When Industries shut its Stonewall denim factory in May, it was this state's last remaining post-Civil War "cotton mill," the kind of textile plant that once dotted the landscapes of Mississippi and Carolinas.

The impact on the tiny town of Stonewall (pop. 1,149) has been devastating. Loss of 840 jobs at Burlington in itself was bad enough, but as Mayor A. D. Gilbert tells me, the plant closure has cost the town $300,000 in tax, water and other revenues, and drastically curtailed services they can provide.

Gilbert, who had worked 50 years at the mill before retiring, said while a number of workers lived elsewhere, the bulk were locals. "Some have already moved away, and some lucky ones have relocated near the new

Catholic church sex scandal shouldn't make us lose faith

Dear Editor,

Ex-priest John Goehagan, the convicted child molester was murdered in prison last Saturday. I am neither happy nor sad about his death but I do wonder where he went after he died.

This letter is really to all Catholics who have had their faith shaken by the recent sex abuse cases involving Catholic priests.

Certainly be shocked and do not put your head in the sand when it comes to facing the horrible reality that some members of our Church have committed such atrocities and they along with other members have or attempted to cover up these crimes.

If you decide to stop going to Mass and receiving the sacraments because of the current sex abuse scandal that the Church is having to endure you are being tempted by and are giving into the same Evil One that the pedophile priests have and the damage to your own soul can be just as infinitely devastating.

Fiorello La Guardia, the former Mayor of New York City once said, "The devil is easy to identify.

He appears vhen you're terribly tired and makes a very reasonable request, which you know you shouldn't grant."

All Satan wants is your consent and what more reasonable request can he make in light of the current situation.

The Catholic Church is still the Church Jesus founded in 33 AD in spite of the egregious behavior of some of it's most important and powerful members. Jesus promised that he would be with his Church until the end of time and that the gates of hell would not prevail against it. Keep your faith, don't give up and don't ore than two years have passed since Waveland officials dispatched a pack of city workers to correct a long-standing drainage problem on Farrar Lane.

After weeks of expensive and obviously incompetent direction, the project was christened a "fait accompli" with steel rods and yards of the all too familiar yellow tape that already decorates an increasing number of roadways in Waveland.

At present, the drainage problem has not been successfully addressed and yet another colorful monument to the city's long list of unfinished projects is crumbling.

Moderate, seasonal rains continue to severely flood the Farrar area.

In addition, the usefulness of Farrar Lane has been compromised by congested, ineffective drainage and dangerous erosion. Flood waters have etched deep gouges beneath the road.

retiring, said while a number of workers lived elsewhere, the bulk were locals. "Some have already moved away, and some lucky ones have relocated near the new Canton Nissan plant and gotten jobs."

He has no use for NAFTA, nor the Burlington corporate management, nor the Bush Administration's handling of the national economy. "They've all let us down," Gilbert says.

We know from Bureau of Labor statistics that Mississippi has lost 46,300 non-farm jobs since January, 2000, on the Ronnie Musgrove "watch," while 54,000 new jobs have come to the state during that time. The nagging problem here is that 7 percent of our work force is now unemployed, an exact duplicate of South Carolina's job-

Americans historically blame a president if a recession happens "on his South Carolina has begun

Mississippi, there seems to be a disconnect, as though the job losses and fiscal hardships we are experiencing are state-generated problems, not tied to what's happened in the national economy.

That view is skillfully being pushed by Mississippi Republicans to divert attention of the home folks away from the 2.5 million jobs lost since Bush took office, or that the long-promised national economic recovery hasn't happened and jobs nationwide are still being lost faster than created.

South Carolina is politically and otherwise more closely akin to Mississippi than any other Southern state going back to Dixiecrat days. But as the lengthy Times story indicates, it takes a vastly different view of where the buck stops for the state's economic woes.

The Republican base in watch." But down here in to erode over how this Administration's handling of the economy. A show-ofhands at a recent conference of the state's textile executives, the Times story reported, found none of manufacturers intending to vote for Bush again.

Yet in Mississippi, the Mississippi Manufacturers Association endorsed GOP gubernatorial contender Haley Barbour after he had hardly landed here from Washington D.C.

Wonder if the fact that the MMA's executive director Jay Moon, a year ago had been canned by the Musgrove administration as the state Development Agency's deputy director over a reported conflict with then-MDA director Bob Rohrlack?

The Mississippi Manufacturers Association and the state's industrial leaders needn't become inebriated by a politician's vague promise that he can "do better," while they fail to do something about raising the notoriously low hourly wages of Mississippi work-

Census data showing that manufacturing workers here remain among the few averaging below $12 an hour, is irksome to veteran state economic developer Pete Walley.

"It's not right," says Walley, "that a worker in nearby Alabama is paid $2 an hour more than a Mississippi worker with the same skills." He is director of long-range economic development planning for the state's Center for Policy Research and Planning.

Mississippi's manufacturing job loss, he added, "had its beginning in 1996 and nas become part of a national, and even global, phenomenon. It cannot be blamed on any one state administration.'

Unfortunately, haven't heard the last of the iob loss blame game as our governor's race heats up.

Waveland

Large pieces of this essential roadway have fallen into poorly constructed drainage area.

The narrow road has further diminished in width thereby creating a constant navigational hazard for residents of this quiet street. Time is the only element between this dangerous situation and a tragic accident.

It is evident that city officials are aware of the problem. Their answer to this glaring liability is to bring out more steel rods and yellow tape.

This is clearly not the answer and quite possibly might be construed as a statement of negligent disregard by Waveland officials.

Is it unreasonable to expect city leaders to take an active role in their community by correcting problems that adversely affect the health and safety of Waveland residents?

The flooding problem that exists on Farrar Lane has been a thorn in the community's side for many frustrating years. The lack of reasonable commitment by Waveland officials to correct citywide drainage problems has resulted in extensive property damage to many home owners.

In addition, stagnant waters that pollute our city's open drains present major health issues ranging from mosquito control, snakes, feral animals, attractive nuisances, mold and raw sewerage.

Harmful environmental conditions, created by flagrant neglect, cannot be eradicated until those people listed as Waveland officials adopt a their elected posts. It is interesting to note that work has been successfully completed Central Avenue in Waveland.

A dangerous road condition that resulted from a water main break was corrected more than satisfactorily within a matter of days.

It is believed that this work was done by an independent contractor who was not a member of Waveland's municipal work force.

Does this information lead one to conclude that a solution to citywide problems would be to dissolve certain offices held responsible for municipal maintenance and repair so that competent, independent engineers and contractors could be sought to provide responsible attitude toward quality services for our community?

The questions regarding drainage issues stand clear and persistent. Unfortunately, they hang in the air unanswered and the solutions remain as murky as the waters that plague our city.

We live in a city full of promise. At this point, the promise appears to most resemble breach of contract. A respectful suggestion to the Mayor's office would be to finish and finish well the meat and potato projects you have committed to before piling your plate high with the sweet treats of annexation.

Sincerely, Stella Anderman Williams

Oyster season to open in two phases

The opening dates of the 2003-2004 Mississippi Oyster Season have been announced by the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources (DMR).

The following areas will open Wednesday, Sept. 10, 2003, at legal sunrise for the harvest of oysters:

•Area I "B" Conditionally Approved Waters, which includes St. Joseph's or "St. Joe" Reef;

•Area II "B" Conditionally Approved Waters, which includes Waveland and St. Stanislaus reefs (tonging areas only);

•Area II "D" Conditionally Approved Waters, which includes the public oyster reefs in St. Louis Bay between the Highway 90 Bridge and the CSX Railroad Bridge (tonging areas only); and •Portions of Area II "A" Conditionally Approved Waters, west of Longitude 89°15.222' West (Mississippi Sound-Pass Christian- West Light 1) (tonging areas only).

Check station checkout times shall be 3 p.m. daily until Oct. 10, 2003. This time may change if necessary.

The following areas will open Friday, Oct. 10, 2003, at legal sunrise for the harvest of oysters:

•Area II Approved Waters, which includes Telegraph and Buoy reefs, the Shell Keys referred to as Pelican. Fletcher's and Umbrella, and the southern portion of Pass Marianne Reef (on a limited basis to conserve the resource);

•Area II "A" Conditionally Approved Waters, which includes northern portions of the Henderson Point Reef and northern portions of the Pass Christian Reef; times shall be 4 p.m. daily on and after Oct. 10, 2003. This time may change if necessary.

For Area I, II and III waters, the designated check stations will be the DMR trailer on the east side of the Pass Christian Harbor or the DMR check station at Bayou Caddy. Checkin/check-out drop boxes will be located at each of these check stations and shall correspond respectively with the drop box.

For Area VIII "B" waters the designated check stations will be the DMR office on Old Stage Road in the Orange Grove community east of Pascagoula.

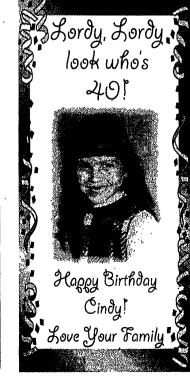

All 2002, 2003 and 2004 shell plant or cultch plant areas, with the exception of the 2002 Henderson Point clutch plant site, will remain closed to the harvest of oysters due to a high percentage of sublegalsize oysters.

Commercial sack limits will be 30 sacks per day for dredging and 20 sacks per day for tonging. Commercial harvesters are limited to three sacks for personal use per week. (These sacks shall be counted toward the daily commercial sack limit for that boat or vessel.) Recreational harvesters are also limited to three sacks per week for personal use. Personal use oysters MAY NOT BE SOLD. Daily commercial sack limits are subject to change.

Areas are subject to being closed on short notice in accordance with regulations of the Commission on Marine Resources. These regulations are available at the ovster check stations and at the Department of Marine Resources, 1141 Bayview Ave., Suite 101, Biloxi, Miss., (228) 374-5000.

For details regarding the open and closed areas, call the DMROyster 24-hour Information Hotline at (228) 374-5167 or 1-800-385-5902.

Mississippi The Department of Marine Resources is dedicated to enhancing, protecting and conserving marine interests of the State by managing all marine life, public trust wetlands, adjacent uplands and waterfront areas to provide for the optimal commercial, recreational, educational and economic uses of these resources consistent with environmental concerns and social changes. Andrea Kyzar, school librarian for St. Martin North Elementary School in Biloxi, has been awarded the 2003 Peggy May/MLA Scholarship.

The $1,000 scholarship, established by the Mississippi Library Association in honor of the late Peggy May, is awarded each year to an outstanding student in the library and information science program at the University of Southern Mississippi.

A former English teacher, Kyzar worked as a reference assistant and a branch manager in the Hancock County Library System before moving to St. Martin North.

She has published in Mississippi Libraries and assisted with the publication of the book Untaught and Unlearned Knowledge by Dr. Fred Womack.

A resident of Diamondhead, she will assume the post of media librarian at East Hancock Elementary School in Kiln for the 2003-04 school year in order to be closer to Health network under new ownership

Coast Alliance, Inc. has been acquired by Advanced HealthCare Solutions of Mississippi, Inc. Coast Healthcare Alliance (CHA), a provider network representing 320 physicians and 10 Hospitals was formed in 1994 and has been owned and operated by Garden Park Medical Center, Gulf Coast Medical Center and Biloxi Regional Medical Center until the acquisition.

Healthcare Coast Alliance offers preferred provider network services to area employers. Most employers accessing the CHA network have self-

Healthcare funded health benefit programs. Employees dependents accessing the network providers for healthcare services generally receive a higher level of benefits; in return, the employer's health plan receives discounts from the network providers. There are approximately 17,000 participants, primarily in the Harrison County area, who access the CHA network providers.

Advanced HealthCare Solutions operates subsidiaries in Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida and Tennessee.

PRCC seminars to provide GIS training

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Pearl River Community College's Workforce Development Center has a Hancock County.

The first training class, ArcGIS advanced (Geographical Information Systems), will be held Sept. 2-4 in Building 1103 in the Visualization Center. GIS is a computerized method of collecting, organizing, analyzing and displaying geographical data about a particular area.

"GIS and Remote Sensing Training will be offered to the NASA Federal City partner companies, industries, educational and public service entities," said Scott Blouin, remote sensing education and training project manager at PRCC. "The trainees will be able to extend science knowledge and technology to the solution of near term socioeconomic problems and enable the growth of a strong national commercial remote industry sensing Mississippi.

"This is the first time training facility located at that a Training Center will Stennis Space Center in be open to all companies at oriented Stennis."

The Development Center will also train Jackson State University students and personnel on Sept. 2-3 at Stennis.

"The Workforce Development Center is helping JSU develop its geospatial program to contribute to Mississippi's stated goal of developing a world-class, high-skill, highpaid workforce in the State," said Blouin.

"This is the first time that a community college is helping to develop a trained certified geospatial student body in a historically black university."

Last week, PRCC sponsored a five-day GIS Visual Basic for Applications training session at the Forrest County Center.

The net effect apparently would be freezing the library's receipts from the city at around $200,000, with no allowances for the same kind of escalating costs the city government itself is facing. "I was com-pletely shocked" at that news, said Plauche on Tuesday.

Meanwhile, one citizen attending the workshop warned council that continued hikes in the city's millage would lead to homeowners selling their properties and leaving town

"We just don't have blank checkbooks," said Corky Hayden, a local businessman who had studied some of the city's calculations before the meeting.

This year's millage hike almost doubles the 10.5-mill levy the city imposed for the fiscal year that ends Sept. 30. And that tax rate was double the 5-mill levy the city had in place for 10 years after Casino Magic opened and began pumping huge sums into the city's general fund.

Mayor Eddie Favre and council members said Monday that the dramatically low five-mill tax rate should have been increased several years ago, to preserve the city's reserves.

"It's one of those would'a, could'a, should'a things," the mayor said of hindsight on the tax cut. "...Looking back, we probably shouldn't have" kept taxes so low, so long.

Favre said at least the for city employees, and debt public benefitted from an astoundingly low tax rate for years. "That's six or seven million dollars we didn't collect," he said.

But in a gloomy portrait of the city's current fiscal health, Favre said the city's hefty reserves were devastated by unexpected costs in the citywide drainage program of the late 1990's. Expected originally to cost $2.5 million, the project exploded into an $8 million expense, the mayor said.

Aside from the millage hike, Favre is proposing a 10 to 12 percent hike in natural gas rates. For the first time in years, the proposed budget seeks total financial independence between the city utility system and general government. That means that the $300,000 that utility customers paid into the general fund in fiscal 2003 won't be a repeat for 2004.

The accounting change will lessen the need for more utility rate hikes, he said. It also takes $300,000 away from general government funding.

Overall, the mayor said the proposed tax hike will cost homeowners an extra $95 on a $100,000 property.

The increased revenue, estimated at $729,000, is needed primarily to cover a whopping 33 percent increase in the city's employee heath care benefits, urgent maintenance on some city facilities, raises service on a new $2 million bond issue for street paving.

Favre said the city has an on-going search for a better, cheaper, health insurance plan. He said the current plan is a far cry from the "Cadillac" program the city had a few years ago.

Overall, the city's budget projects revenues on the conservative side, and expenses on the liberal side, he said, in hopes of avoiding underestimations.

meanwhile, Plauche, urged council to reconsider plans to whittle away at the three-mill levy that's been assigned to the library system. Last year, council toyed with eliminating that levy entirely, but at last agreed to give the library proceeds from a 2.67-mill levy.

She had asked council to restore the 3-mill rate, giving the library increased revenues to cover the same kinds of escalating costs as the city faces, and to increase hours of operations at the system's four facilities. There are no raises in employees.

But Fare said he's proposing the same funding level from the city to the library system for next year. That probably means next year's levy will drop slightly from the 2.67 mills, because the value of each mill increases with natural growth in the city's tax base.

Plauche urged council to Sept. 15.

think of the library system as a city service, not a competing entity. Citizens who use the system have been happy with the service, she said, and will be angered if cuts are required.

Ward 1 council member Doug Seal responded that "for too long we've worried about taking care of everybody. This year, we've got to take care of our employees." And, he said, if the city has to cut such services as picking up limbs with its chipper truck, the public will be angered as well.

For 10 years, "you weren't in here saying, 'please raise my taxes'," Seal said to Plauche and Hayden.

City employees are in line for raises next year, including a 50-cent hourly hike for hourly employees, and a $1,200 annual raise for salaried employees. There are other "adjustments" to salaries contained in the budget, but council is withholding those details until the budget is set.

Hourly workers received no pay increases last year, the library budget, she said, and salaried employees and no new permanent haven't gotten raises for three years.

Council met in closed session after their open workshop Monday, to discuss the raise package.

A public hearing is set for Sept. 8 at 5 p.m., in City Hall Annex on Court Street, on the budget and millage level. Council is expected to enact its final budget on

There are many simple but effective coping techniques you can teach your kids. One of them is decreasing negative self talk. For example saying to yourself, "There is nothing to look forward to" can really get your mood down. Instead, try saying something more optimistic like "Maybe I don't see anything exciting in my future now, but I bet there are ways I could make things exciting if I try." You will feel calmer and less anxious. With a little practice, your teen can acquire this skill. We'd like to help you, if you want more information, call us now or anytime. will all benefit from the

Logan, CPCA executive director. "This year's offering of topics and speakers is sharply focused on improving skills, increasing knowledge and helping social services professionals and others who protect and provide caring services to Mississippi's abused and at- risk children and families," she continued.

The keynote address will be delivered by Jack E. Enter, Ph.D., from Augusta, Ga., and will discuss factors in American families and society which are the foundations of problems with child abuse and violence, addictions and mental health, which are contributing factors in the deterioration of the American home. Enter is a private consultant who provides training and education to law enforcement and criminal justice agencies across the country. He also serves as an expert witness regarding violent crimes and related topics.

Tuesday will kick off with an address by Detective Mike Johnson of the Juvenile Division of the Plano, Texas, Police Department. A nationally acclaimed speaker and recognized child advocate, Johnson will present his seminar, "Blessed are the Peacemakers," which will uplift and motivate child welfare professionals to identify the, effect their work has on their individual lives. Through this, Johnson will present ways child advocates can continue to make monumental differences in the lives of children and families.

The event's Tuesday

luncheon will include a moving story as told by David E. Fleet, a criminal prosecutor from Florida's First Judicial District in Fort Walton Beach. Through a hypothetical victim, "A visit to Uncle Joe's" will chronicle a child and family's involvement with multidisciplinary child abuse review teams during the investigation and prosecution process. The address will also inspire unity across professional disciplines to teach how non-offending parents can become involved in the process.

The luncheon will also serve as a platform to recognize the many outstanding contributions made to South Mississippi communities by multidisciplinary child abuse review teams,

Department of Human Services social workers, local legislators and patrons of the Center.

The South Mississippi Social Worker of the Year will also be announced and presented with the Illona Jones Award, which recognizes one social worker for their dedication and involvement on behalf of children and families. The award is named after Illona Jones, a retired Department of Human Services regional director who worked on behalf of South Mississippi's children and families her entire career. Jones continues to be a prominent and influential child advocate along the Coast. Other featured speakers at this year's convention include Mary Migliaro and George Ryan, who will educate conferees on the "Correlation Between Animal Abuse, Child Abuse and Domestic Violenceduring their seminar. Migliaro, of Woodstock, Ga.. is a certified consultant and trainer and an adjunct professor at Kennesaw State University. Ryan is an investigator for North Carolina's First Judicial

Two survivors of abuse and violence will also tell their stories at this year's conference. Susan Kesegich, Destin, Fla., will tell of her personal experience as a victim of incest mid physical abuse. Her workshop will teach professionals about the emotions victims experience and how to help them grow into healthy relationships and break the cycle of abuse. Amerah H. Shabazz, a native of Arcola, Miss., will share her story of "moving from victim to victor." She will give a "first hand look" at the long-term effects of childhood sexual abuse.

Also featured at this year's conference will be a discussion of current national, state and local legislation affecting child well being, program funding and more. Several pertinent legislators have been invited to participate in this round table seminar. A respected collection of retired, current and former Mississippi Department of Human Services social workers will address attendees and discuss the benefits, both professional and personal, of beginning a career as a child welfare case worker in Harrison

This year's conference is sponsored by the CPCA, Mississippi Court Advocacy and Justice Institute, CASA Mississippi, Biloxi Regional Medical Center, Harrison County Board of Supervisors, Southwest Mississippi Children's Advocacy Center and the office of District Attorney Cono Caranna.

The Mississippi Chapter of the National Association: of Social Workers has approved the conference for: 1.48 social work units. Continuing education units: (13), offered through the University of Southern Mississippi will also be available for a $26 fee.

Early registration for the conference is available through Sept. 1 for $120; registration at the door will be $150. Students will be admitted for $75. For registration or conference information call the Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse at (228)868-8686.

OLA Food Fest needs crafters

THE SEA COAST ECHO

For the twenty-first consecutive year, Our Lady Academy in Bay St. Louis, will be hosting their annual International Food Festival, to be held September 19th (6:00-10:00p.m.), (11:00 a.m.-10:00p.m.), & 21st (11:00a.m.-6:00p.m.). It will be nestled under the shade on the Our Lady Academy Campus and Our Lady of the Gulf Church grounds on South Beach Boulevard.

The Our Lady Academy International Food Festival is a wonderful family event, hosted by the faculty, students, parents and friends who want to make this another successful year. This is an event that has attracted people from as far away as New Orleans and Mobile.

This is a long-standing tradition for Our Lady Academy. The International Food Festival has raised money in the past to help pay for the new buildings (with added classrooms and gymnasium - which is shared by both OLA and Bay Catholic Elementary), and to help supply the class-

Once again there will be great food, fun, craft booths, and wonderful entertainment for the entire weekend. Music will be provided by MJ the DJ on Friday night (6-10p.m.) and Saturday afternoon (12-Southbound 5p.m.); Saturday evening (6-10p.m.); and Keith Hoda Sunday afternoon (1-5p.m.).

To have crafts, we must have crafters; so Our Lady Academy is looking for interested crafters who would like to reserve booth space for this wonderful family event. No food, drink, or flea market booths will be allowed. For more information you may call 228-467-hether you want to call it a "spot of gold" or a "thread of gold," a new gardening trend will have you striking it rich.

Your garden will be well rewarded with envious glances from your neighbors when you add plants the color of gold to your landscape.

Gold-colored plants are hot -- but not necessarily in large quantities, although I have seen great beds outlined in gold. What I am really talking about is wonderful perennial beds with one or two brilliant gold plants shining in the middle.

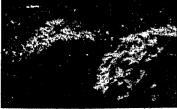

I like the complementary look the best when it comes to gold, so plant the opposite color of golden yellow, which is violet to purple.

You may be thinking I am talking about plants like a golden rudbeckia combined with a veronica or a salvia. This works and always will, but this trend incorporates plants with golden foliage rather than flowers.

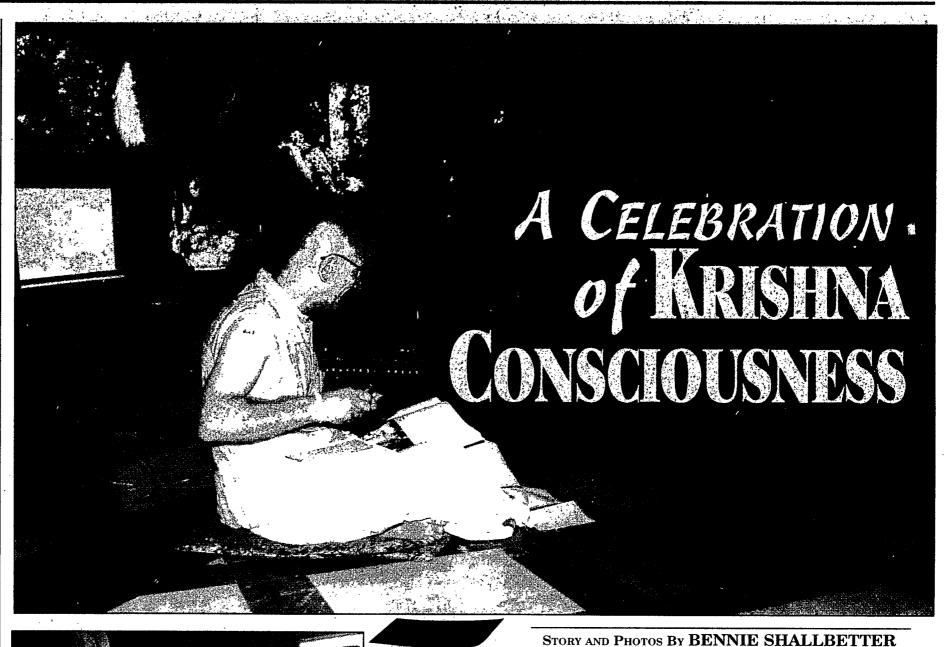

Three of the hottest golden-leafed plants are coleus, Joseph's coat and the evergreen shrub called chamaecyparis. Coleus is still on an upward trend in popularity. Though I recently encouraged you to mass plant, you will see that spot planting gold-leafed forms serves a great purpose.

Joseph's coat comes in several colors. It is durable and ideally suited to the front of the border or in pocket-type plantings. Let this serve as a warning: in October you will wish you had some in your landscape, so buy any you find remaining at the founder of Krishna Consciousness, Srila founder of Krish Prabhupada.

The two celebrations, falling on two consecutive days, are very important holidays for both devotees and the Hindu world. Other holidays celebrate the appearance of other acharyas, or teachers.

At New Talavana farm, located in North Hancock County, the celebration of Janmasthami began early Wednesday evening and concluded with ceremonial bathing (the sprinkling of water), the opening of gifts and a vegetarian feast at midnight.

Throughout the evening music, plays, dancing, ceremonial bathing (sprinkling of water), devotional songs and poems, readings from stories about Krishna, a raffle, and other entertainment made the celebration a festive event. The grounds and temple were lighted and covered with brightly colored decorations and banana leaves.

Vyasa puja, a more solemn celebration by contrast, began on Thursday afternoon and consisted of the readings of eulogies of Srila Prabhupada, a slide show of the founder touring the grounds of New Talavana and

Pick your poison — pro, college, or high school football!

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II Staff Writer

o you feel that strange over coming right now? Doesn't it feel like a special season is upon us? Don't worry nothing is wrong with you. It is just that football season is upon us. This is that magical time of the year where we look to our favorite professional players, the collegiate icons, or the Friday night heroes and wonder what next great thing is about to happen.

The professional season is just a few weeks away as we are in the midst of the One preseason games. question that lingers in the minds of many in the region is "How bout them Saints?"

That is a good question. We all know that Deuce McAllister is the man. He was a player that hardly anyone could stop. It seemed as though in 2002 that the only thing stopping Deuce was aminor injury or a penalty flag. The NFC's leading rusher and Pro Bowl starter in 2002 returns to lead the Saints in

The Saints have tried to shore up their offensive backfield with the signing of former #1-overall pick Kiiana Carter of Penn State. While he is a load to bring down, he is not a Deucetype player.

Throughout the preseason. Coach Jim Haslett has repeatedly stated that the defense will be better.

On special teams, the and Fred McAfee returning. Lewis set a league record combined return yardage on kickoffs and punts. McAfee has been in the league some 14 years and still has the knack to make the special teams play that is so important in games.

How lethal will the Saints' attack be in 2003? They have the potential but only time will tell. Here is a thought for those of you who like to fantasize about dream drafts. How about the Saints trading up in the draft to take an Eli? What would New Orleans do with another Manning in a black and gold jersey? The city might be reduced to shadows and dust if that happens. But think of the possibilities with football's version of the M & M boys in the backfield - Manning and McAllister. Talk about a homerun! Is it possible? Sure, anything is possible, but it is highly unlikely.

With that segway, we move into discussion about the pageantry and beauty that is college football. Does love for one's school, pride in the region, and passion for the game get any deeper than college football? I think not.

In Mississippi, we have three Division I schools in Ole Miss, Mississippi State and the University of Southern Mississippi. All three are members of high ranking conferences and have rabid fan bases. Add in SWAC members Jackson State, Alcorn Mississippi Valley State, Division II power Delta State, Millsaps, Belhaven, Mississippi College and a strong JUCO presence, and Mississippi has the makings of a prestigious football breeding ground.

With the whole show starting on Labor Day weekend, taking full bloom with the myriad of colors of late fall and culminating with a Thanksgiving feast, college football is more of a religion in the South than anything else.

This year, we have the Conerly Trophy being presented on the golden Gulf Coast for the first time in history. The award symbolizes Mississippi's finest col- small strap it on and pound Saints have Michael Lewis legiate football player, each other. They play for 48 regardless of position or grueling minutes and leave school. The award is named for the late Ole Miss All-American and NFL All-Pro Charlie Conerly. He is the only native Mississippian to be named All-American, All-Pro, and NFL Rookie of the Year. He led the New York Giants to the NFL Championship in 1958.

> All three finalists, including the 2002 winner Rod Davis of USM, are back for their senior seasons. Rod Davis, All-American linebacker for USM, returns to lead the Golden Eagles on defense after leading the nation in tackles last year. Can he become the nation's best defensive player and be assured of being a first round selection in the 2004 NFL draft? We shall soon find out.

Eli Manning, the star quarterback of Ole Miss. comes back for a final showdestiny. with Manning, the stud with the star last name, has rewritten the Rebels' record book and is looking to add more ink to his bio. BY JOSEPH W. GEX II Staff Writer

The Our Lady Academy Crescents (9-4) defeated the Hancock Lady Hawks in high school volleyball action on Tuesday, August 26th in Kiln 2-0. The Crescents tallied scores of 15-2 and 15-3 to get the win. OLA head coach Mike Meyers commented, "We played very well tonight. The team communicated, moved and passed the ball well. It was an excellent better defensive much ' team."

In the first game, OLA jumped out to a 5-2 lead before shutting Hancock out on their last four possessions. OLA reeled off 10 consecutive points to force the change of sides.

In the second game, OLA had a 4-1 lead as they scattered two points over the next four possessions for Rachel Cuevas Hancock. and Annie Giardino each game for us. Hancock is a tallied 7 service points to

Vancleave wins Kickoff Classic; OLA makes it to semi-final action

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II Staff Writer

The 2nd annual Gulf Coast Kickoff Classic Volleyball tournament hosted by Our Lady Academy was a success both on and off the court. The success on the court came from 16 quality teams battling in pool competition, semi-final action, and finally, the championship. The success off the court was the near capacity crowd of fans who flooded the Father Peter Mockler Gymnasium on Friday, August 22nd and Saturday, August 23rd for the two-day competition.

OLA head coach Mike Meyers stated, "The tournament was a huge success. It was a great tournament field and they provided topnotch volleyball for the fans that came out to support the teams."

The Crescents were the host team for the tournament. They were joined in the field by Resurrection, St. Martin, Hancock, Bay Vancleave, Pascagoula, Biloxi, Long Beach, East Central, Pass Christian, Oak Grove, Madison Central, Gulfport, Gautier, and Mercy Cross. The sport of volleyball in Mississippi is relatively new to the MHSAA circuit. This year marks the first season where the schools are bro-

The Vancleave Lady

Bulldogs won the championship after five consecutive wins in the two-day event. The Lady Bulldogs defeated Madison Central in three games to lay claim to the trophy. Vancleave lost the first game of the championship 9-15 but followed that with a 15-9 win to send the title game into the rubber match. Despite playing five matches in less than a day's time, the Lady Bulldogs and the Lady Jaguars did not disappoint 'the fans with the third game. Vancleave won 17-15. Vancleave's enthusiasm and communication on the court inspired even the most uneducated fan. Madison Central was, by far, the most physically impressive team in the tournament with a starting lineup that included three players over 6-feet tall and 6footer coming off the bench. Even more amazing is the fact that Madison Central has just one senior! The Crescents, defending tournament and state champion, made the semifinals of the tournament after recording pool victories against Hancock and

In the semi-finals, OLA was paired with Madison Central. Despite the height disadvantage, the Crescents played valiantly but fell to the taller Lady Jags 15-13, Meyers commented, "We received outstanding effort from everyone. They all played well. They gave everything they had against Madison Central and that is all a coach can ask for. Kaylee Schmitt had a very good match against their taller players, as did everyone of the girls. If we continue to get effort like that each time we play, we will improve and be a better

The Bay High Lady Tigers had the unfortunate draw of being in the same pool as Vancleave. The Lady Tigers had wins against Biloxi 2-0 and Pascagoula 2-0 before falling to Vancleave 5-15 and 10-15. Bay High head coach Liz Bosarge stated, "We had a solid tournament and this was great practice for us this early in the season. Vancleave had some big hitters and they did a good job of putting the ball back over the net. Anytime we get the opportunity to play, we get better as a team." The Hancock Lady ken up into classifications. Resurrection 2-0 and St. Hawks got their first two wins of the season in the tournament. Following a 2-0 loss to OLA on Friday, Hancock bounced back and recorded two wins against St. Martin and Resurrection 2-0. Hancock head coach Denise Ladner commented, "We opened with OLA and knew they were going to be a tough game. However, we were able to get two wins in the tournament. We look forward to getting better as the season progresses."

East Central won the third pool with three wins over Long Beach, Pass Christian, and Oak Grove. East Central squared off with Vancleave in the semifinals to make an all-Jackson County side of the bracket. Vancleave went the distance with East Central and came out victorious. Madison Central played in five matches in less than seven hours time. They cruised through their pool with 2-0 wins against Gulfport, Gautier, and Mercy Cross. They ran into OLA in the semis and the Crescents drained just about everything from the Lady Jags.

Regular season volleyball continues on Thursday with the Lady Tigers of Bay High entertaining the Lady Indians of Biloxi and OLA hosting Long Beach in a rematch of the Crescents first loss of the 2003 season.

Remember: Fish the tides!

Great fishing action is being reported all along the coast and should continue for quite a while. It is important to fish the tides over the next few weeks with water temps as high as they are right now. When it gets this hot the fish seem to just hold when the water is not moving, but once the tide starts to pick up hold on for some fast and furious lip ripping.

Good catches of redfish seem to be dominating the marsh as they have officially moved back inside and are eating furiously as they recoup some of the weight they lost while offshore.

They are being caught from the eastern edge of the marsh and as far west as Bayou Biloxi and all points in between. Locating baitfish is the key to finding the redfish while they are hungry. Right now it seems that reds that are looking for a meal will ambush any point, drop-off, or flat that is holding bait.

Artificial baits of choice are H&H cocahoe minnows in avocado and red, purple and white, or chartreuse and red rigged on either 1/4 or 3/8 oz. jig heads.

Of course I am a big believer in top waters for these brutes when fishing in

FISHING REPORT by Capt. Mike Thompson www.shorethingcharters.com shallower water (less than 3 My preferred top water baits are Rapala Skitterwalks in either chrome and black, chrome and blue, red and white, or black and chartreuse, no one should be caught without a bone colored top water bait for those perfect early morning or late afternoon low-light conditions.

The speckled trout bite has changed very little over the past week only to say that fast and furious action is separated by long periods of boredom. Fishing the tide is crucial to producing a good catch of trout over the next few weeks. Baits of choice for me have been soft plastics worked either under a cork or bounced off the bottom, however top water baits have been producing very well also.

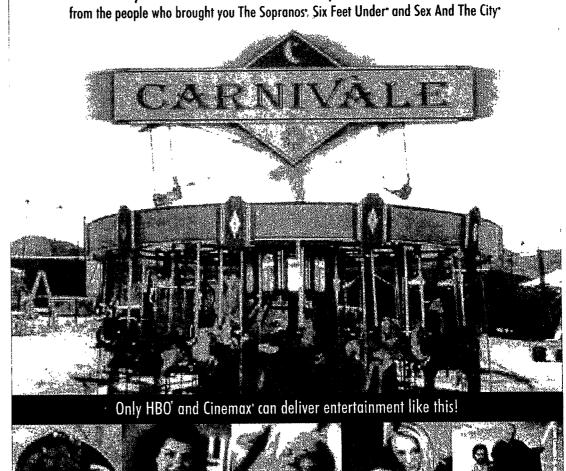

There are two important points that I stress to the guests aboard my boat when we are using top waters. First, use a loop knot to attach the bait to the leader, this allows for a more natural action and makes it much easier to accomplish the "walk the dog" effect that everyone is looking for. Second, when you do get a blow-up (a fish hits your bait, but you don't hook up on him) try letting you bait sit still for a count of five or so and then barely twitch the bait to simulate an injured baitfish. After a count of ten to fifteen if he doesn,t come back begin working the bait as normal. I am certain that once you practice a little bit and catch some fish "on top" you too will be hooked on these great baits.

Until next week, be safe, and please remember to be courteous to your fellow fishermen.

This September marks National Leukemia, Lymphoma and Myeloma awareness month

Help Commemorate Lives Touched by Cancer

eptember marks the annual obserof Leukemia, Lymphoma and, Myeloma Awareness Month, a time to commemorate the estimated 670,000 patients in the U.S. currently battling blood cancers.

"Every five minutes, a person in the U.S. is diagnosed with blood cancer, and every nine minutes, someone dies," explains Arentsom Kristen Campaign Manager of the Mississippi Chapter. The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society is the leader in funding blood cancer research. "Since our founding in 1949, the Society has provided more than $358 million for research specifically targeting blood cancers, which has led to important medical advances that are saving lives."

Throughout the year, the Society's 62 chapters provide free information, education and support services to patients, their families, caregivers and healthcare providers. "We encourage everyone touched by blood cancer to turn to us as a resource," adds Arentson.

To help build awareness, the Society created an awareness month poster based on the theme of their national PSA campaign, which features actual cancer survivors, their family

> About Leukemia, Lymphoma and Mycloma

lymphoma Leukemia, and mycloma are cancers that originate in the bone marrow or lymphatic tissues as the result of an acquired genetic injury to the DNA of a single cell, which in turn becomes malignant and multiples continuously. This abnormal accumulation of malignant cells interferes with the production of healthy blood cells.

Leukemia is the leading cause of disease-related death in children under the age of 15. The most common form of leukemia in children acute lymphocytic leukemia (ALL). Treatment advances have increased survival for ALL from 4 percent in 1960 to 85 percent in 1999. Although often thought of as exclusively affecting children, leukemia is actually far more common in older adults - half of leukemia cases occur after the age of 64.

Non-Hodgkin lymphoma is the fifth most common cancer in the United States, and its age-adjusted incidence increased 71 percent from 1975 to 2000. Hodgkin lymphorna has a high incidence among adolescents and young adults. As a result of advances discovered through research, however, Hodgkin lymphoma now has five-year relative survival rates of more than Eighty percent of myeloma cases occur in people over age 60. Americans of African descent have a much higher incidence compared to those of European descent. Incidence rates in men are 50 percent higher than in women. While survival has increased five-fold between 1950 and 1999, the rate of survival is still only 30.9 percent today, making myeloma the most difficult blood cancer to treat successfully.

About The Leukemia &

Lymphoma Society
The Leukemia & The Lymphoma Society®, headquartered in White Plains, NY, is the world's largest voluntary health organization dedicated to funding blood cancer research and providing education and patient services. The Society's mission is to cure leukemia, lymphorna, Hodgkin's disease and myeloma, and to improve the quality of life of patients and their families. Since its founding in 1949, the Society has provided more than $358 million for research specifically targeting blood cancers.

concluding with a vegetarian feast. Devotees took turns reading the eulogies in the temple.

New Talavana is a farm community founded in 1974 and named after one of the twelve forests around the city of Vrndavna in India where the Hindus believe Krishna (their Lord God) was incarnated 5,000 years ago. There in the forest, Hindu teachings say, Krishna, who spent time as a cow herd, would play, rest, eat, and watch the cows as they grazed.

The farm consists of about 1300 acres and is the second largest Krishna farm community in the United States. At first the farm was a place for devotees from New Orleans to visit and plant gardens. Now, many of the children and young adults who live at New Talavana were born at the farm. The devotees, or faithful, practice cow protection, but not, as is sometimes thought, cow worship. Krishna spent part of his childhood as a cowherd, Hindu teachings say, and respected the cows for their gentle nature and contributions to humans; bulls for their help in producing crops, and cows for their contribution of milk products. The devotees are vegetarians and do not slaughter the cows for food. Currently the farm is producing wheat, fruit, vegetables, hay and of course dairy products from the resident cows.

The devotees strive to have a simple, spiritually based life, They consider the farm and its surrounding lands to be a sacred trust, which must be cared for in a responsible and loving way. To achieve this end they have a 25 year plan for growth for the farm community, which centers around temple life.

If you would like to know more about the community or its beliefs, you are encouraged to contact the farm at 601-799-1354 or 601-749-9460 or look on the

It may be hard to see how the verbena, salvia and scaevola could possibly work together, but this is where the gold comes in. Whether it is coleus, Joseph's coat, chamaecyparis or some of all three, these become the golden threads on which the flowers are weaved. It resembles a gold necklace with sapphires.

There is still plenty of time for you to strike gold this summer as we head toward fall. Shop with a watchful eye -who knows what you may find at your garden center?

N.I.E. and YOU make it possible to put our local newspaper in the classrooms to put students in touch with what is happening in their community. Thanks to you, N.I.E. is possible!

Newspapers In Education is a program in which newspapers supplement traditional teaching materials in the classroom. N.I.E. programs are provided to local schools through paid sponsorship programs.

Newspapers In Education programs teach with the newspaper. Students learn to become critical thinkers through reading, analyzing and discussing newspaper stories and editorials. They use the knowledge they gain to engage in conversations with peers and family members.

If you would like to be an NIE SPONSOR or if you are a teacher and would like to use the Echo's N.I.E. program in your classroom you may contact RITA BREUN, N.I.E. coordinator at THE SEA COAST ECHO 467-5474.

Coast Chorale resumes rehearsals for fall season

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Coast Chorale, one of our state's premier singing ensembles, will embark upon its second decade this autumn. The Coast Chorale, which consistently performs throughout the Mississippi Gulf Coast and south Mississippi has also been heard nationally and internationally. Most recently many of its members performed the music of British composer John Rutter, under his direction in Carnegie Hall. The Chorale has also performed and was well received in Austria and Italy. New members in all singing voices are being sought for the new season that begins with the first full rehearsal on Tuesday Sept. 2. Informal voice screenings will be held between 6 and 6:45 p.m.

The purpose is to determine your singing voice for proper placement in the Chorale.

The season will kick off with its traditional covered dish supper at 6:15 p.m.

Full rehearsal will follow at 7:00 PM with subsequent rehearsals held on following Tuesdays at that same time. All rehearsals as well as the voice screenings, available before most rehearsals early in the season, are held at Trinity Episcopal Church in Pass Christian.

If you need more information feel free to contact Joy Mehrtens, artistic director at 463-9245 or Eric Meindl, president at 228 466 9529.
